

ASU Chandler Innovation Center

CHANDLER, AZ

The ACIC is a DIY Business Incubator with tools and equipment available for public use.

CLIENT	Arizona Board of Regents
GC	Haydon Building Corporation
DURATION	19 Months
BUDGET	$537,510
SIZE	35,000 SF

The ASU Chandler Innovation Center (ACIC) is an engineering and technology-based education and research hub located in downtown Chandler, AZ and is a public-private partnership between Arizona State University (ASU), and the City of Chandler. It is an innovative model to support entrepreneurs, students, and innovators to create products and start businesses. This Center is housed in the renovated, former public works yard and consists of more than 35,000 square feet of space outfitted with state-of-the-art equipment, software, and tools, along with classrooms and meeting rooms for courses, workshops, and events. The ACIC provides access to a wide range of industrial and business equipment including; 3D printer, laser cutter, screen printer, vinyl cutter, industrial sewing machines, CNC embroiderer, table saw, miter saw, drill press, and sheet metal machine, among others.

OFFICES

Tempe, AZ

SECTORS

Education
Institutional

SERVICES

Building Information
Modeling